

OpenSource Alternatives : Clipgrap (Youtube downloader)

on October 11, 2018

Hello readers,

First of all, I apologize for not updating my blog, but now onward I will do it regularly. So we all use different software in which some of them are paid and some are free. Many developers work on different software and donate it as free for everyone. I really respect them for their contribution to the world.

Most of you may be familiar with many open source software. So no need to discuss much its benefits and other aspects.

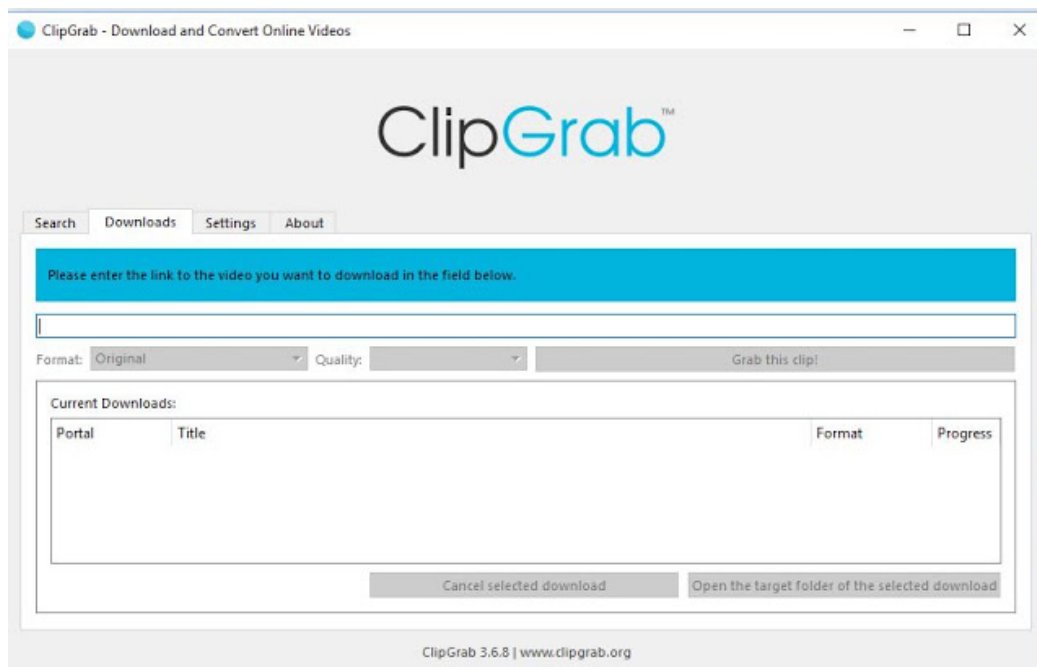

So today I want to share a software detail which is basically a video downloader and it is completely free.

So go to the link download it and use it.

Also if you want to share something via this blog. You are always welcome.

Happy Navratri to all of you
